Olav Thon Foundation award research seminar 2018 program

Thursday March 8th 2018 at 11:30 - 15:00
Venue: The Rotunda (Runde Auditorium) and Mezzanine at Domus Medica, University of Oslo (UiO), Sognsvanneveien 9 (Gaustad).

11:30 - 11:55 Coffee/Tea - presentations ready
12:00 - 12:05 Ole Petter Ottersen, Head of the Olav Thon Foundation scientific council and Vice-chancellor of Karolinska Institutet, Stockholm, Sweden: Welcome, introduction of the Thon awards and the legacy of the Thon awardees
12:05 - 12:15 Pål Gunnar Larsson, Head of Clinical Neurophysiology at Oslo University Hospital: Introduction of the 2018 Thon international research awardee
12:15 - 13:00 Riitta Hari, professor emerita, Aalto University, Helsinki, Finland: “The brain in time”
13:00 - 13:45 Lunch served by Hotel Bristol
13:45 - 14:10 Pål Jarle Johnsen, professor, University of Tromsø, Norway: “Development of antibiotic resistance in bacterial biofilms”
14:10 - 14:35 Trude Helen Flo, professor, NTNU, Trondheim, Norway: “Discovering new therapeutic targets and drugs to combat AMR tuberculosis: proteomics characterization and drug screening of mycobacterium-infected macrophages”
14:35 - 15:00 Fernanda Cristina Petersen, professor, UiO, Norway: “Born in the twilight of antibiotics: fighting antimicrobial resistance in preterm infants”

Welcome!
Remember to sign up on UiO Event page before February 28th 2018 to attend the seminar.

https://skjema.uio.no/80544

Erlend A. Nagelhus
Pål Gunnar Larsson
Fernanda Cristina Petersen