

Paul Richard Fife is Director for Section for Global Health at the Norwegian Agency for Development Cooperation (NORAD). He has previously held multiple senior leadership roles in NORAD, including Director for Education and Global Health. His responsibilities have included contributing to Norway's leadership role in global health and education and ensuring effective Norwegian aid investments in these areas. He also overseen strategy and special projects in the Office of the Director-General. In previous periods as the head of health, education, and research at NORAD, he represented Norway on several international Boards and committees, including the Gavi Alliance and the Global Partnership for Education. From 1995-2003, Mr. Fife worked on vaccines and health with Unicef in Eritrea, Cambodia and at UNICEF HQ in New York. He is a medical doctor and holds a master's degree in Public Policy and Management.