TERM PAPER HMAN5160: GENERAL ASSESSMENT GUIDELINE

Assessment criteria and expectations for a good term paper:

- The research problem/question is pertinent and clearly formulated/defined.
- The student demonstrates the ability to identify/gather, analyze/evaluate and present the pertinent knowledge/literature accurately and clearly.
- In addressing the research question, the student performs a careful and critical analysis/evaluation that demonstrates a good understanding of the concepts/models/theories from the course.
- The paper as a whole is well organized and cohesive, and maintains focus on the central question.
- The discussion is rich and reflects/is consistent with existing knowledge. The conclusion is thoughtful and identifies future implications.
- The paper includes the main components (e.g., introduction, body, discussion, conclusion, references) and meets the technical requirements (e.g., page limit, reference format).
- The paper is well written/the language is clear and free of errors (e.g., grammar, punctuation, spelling).